SUBMIT

Review

You have completed all questions!

You may go back, review your questions, and make any updates that you would like or submit below to turn in the results.

Question 1 of 21

A Google Product Marketing Manager contacts you with a request to set up a Shopping campaign. They have not previously run Shopping campaigns before. What should you do? 8709475

- Set up the new campaign and launch it as soon as possible
- Advise the PMM that they will need to obtain internal approvals at go/houseadsexceptions
- Ask your manager for approval to set up the campaign. Once your manager has approved, go ahead and setup the campaign
- Advise the PMM that this can only be set up as a Smart Shopping campaign

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 2 of 21

Which of the following remarketing guidelines is false? 8709475

- Floodlight and Google Ads conversion pixels require privacy review and you should reach out to Product Marketing Manager to request the necessary approvals

Google

- [ ] Customer Match campaigns require additional approvals and you should reach out to Product Marketing Manager or your Media Lab POC

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 3 of 21

Logging into Google Ads, you see that several of the House Ads campaigns you manage have been paused due to House Ads policy violations. What should you do? (Please select all answers that apply) 8709475

- [x] Make sure the campaign is compliant with all House Ads and Google Ads policies. When the campaign is fixed, you will be able to turn your campaign back on
- [ ] Ask the Media Lab to fix your campaign for you
- [ ] Ask a Google Product Marketing Manager to turn the campaign on for you
- [x] If you have questions about why your campaign was flagged, reach out to the Media Lab team

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 4 of 21

A Google Product Marketing Manager is pressuring you to increase the number of conversions on an SEM campaign. There is plenty of budget, and you think that increasing the position of the ad would help. Which of the following is permissible? 8709475

- [ ] Increase your bid size to $1500 to guarantee the top ad spot
- [x] Stick to managing your campaign within the approved limits and ROI goals as communicated by the Google Media Lab and Finance teams

Google

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 5 of 21

For all campaigns, Brand Safety exclusions are: 8709475

- (●) Required
- ( ) Optional
- ( ) Depends on the region
- ( ) Depends on the product

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 6 of 21

You are launching a new campaign for Google Cloud, targeting Canada. Which automated bidding strategy can you implement? (Check all that apply) 8709475

- [x] Target CPA
- [x] Maximize Conversion with Target CPA
- [ ] Target Impression Share
- [ ] Maximize Clicks
- [x] Target ROAS

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Google

Which of the following keyword match types are not allowed to be used without additional approval from the Media Lab? 8709475

- (●) Broad match
- ( ) Phrase Match
- ( ) Exact Match

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 8 of 21

Can you use non-Google trademarked terms in the ad copy/creative? 8709475

- ( ) House Ads are allowed to include trademarked terms in the ad copy if you think it makes sense to do so
- ( ) House Ads are allowed to include trademarked terms in the ad copy if the PMM thinks it makes sense to do so
- (●) Including trademarks in your ad copy requires trademark owner authorization per Google Ads policy. Your Media Lab POC or Google Product Marketing Manager will need to obtain all necessary approvals from the trademark owner, and potentially other internal approvals.

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 9 of 21

House Ads policies do NOT apply to reservation buys on YouTube. 8709475

- ( ) True
- (●) False

Google

Question 10 of 21

Which of the following is true about running a remarketing campaign? (Please select all answers that apply) 8709475

- [ ] Your campaigns only need to comply with House Ads policies on remarketing, not Google Ads policies
- [x] You should not share remarketing lists across products without additional Google internal approvals.
- [x] The campaign's Product Marketing Manager should be informed of plans to use remarketing or Customer Match in the campaign
- [x] Certain remarketing executions will require internal approvals, which the PMM will need to submit
- [x] You should advise your PMM to review region specific policies on go/houseads (Google internal link) for markets such as EU Member States, EEA countries & EU Member State Overseas Territories

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 11 of 21

If your campaigns feature a third party partner, or leads to a non-Google owned landing page, you should: 8709475

- ( ) Immediately use the partner's brand terms as keywords
- (•) Flag to your Media Lab POC or PMM, as they will need to submit an exception request at go/houseadsexceptions
- ( ) Make sure to include the third party logos, as it's contractually required

Google

Question 12 of 21

As a House Ads certified campaign manager, you may receive emails containing a list of brand safety keywords, placement and mobile exclusions. What should you do with this information?

- Pass this information on to your manager
- Nothing; the Media Accountability Tool will add all necessary keyword and placement exclusions.
- Nothing; this information is only for Google employees
- Reach out to Media Lab's Campaign Governance & Ops team to help apply exclusions for Performance Max and App Campaigns.

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 13 of 21

House Ads policies are highly confidential and cannot be shared with anyone not working on Google campaigns.

- True
- False

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 14 of 21

Google

for a new Google games product and reach a broad audience. You are thinking of targeting movie aficionados, since they might also be interested in games. However, the landing page doesn't relate to movies anywhere. Which of the following is true? 8709475

- You can run a SEM campaign and bid on movie-related keywords as long as the ad mentions movies
- You can run a SEM campaign and bid on movie-related keywords as long as you don't use keyword insertion
- You cannot bid on movie-related keywords unless the landing page is relevant for this use case.

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 15 of 21

As you set up a new campaign, how should you name the campaign? 8709475

- Using the provided product-specific House Ads naming convention per the Campaign Name Builder
- Using a name that describes targeting audience and targeting method
- Using your product, and a random string of numbers that would qualify as a unique identifier

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 16 of 21

Which of the following formats will require you to reach out to Media Lab's Campaign Governance & Ops team to help apply Brand Safety exclusions? (Please select all answers that apply) 8709475

Google

- [x] App Campaigns (fka UAC)
- [x] Performance Max
- [ ] All of the above

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 17 of 21

Customer Match will require the Product Marketing Manager to obtain internal Google approvals 8709475

- (•) True
- ( ) False

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 18 of 21

A new agency employee joined your team today. Are you allowed to grant this employee access to the House Ads campaigns you are managing? 8709475

- ( ) Yes - this person will need access to help you manage House Ads campaigns
- ( ) Yes - but only if your manager told you to do so
- (•) No - this is never allowed. This person must first complete and pass the House Ads Certification for Agencies.

Google

Question 19 of 21

If you are planning to run a Google Ads search campaign, you are required to opt into the search partner network (sometimes referred to as AdSense of Search/AFS)? 8709475

- (●) True
- ( ) False

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 20 of 21

When is it permissible for a House Ads campaign to drive traffic to a landing page that is not owned and operated by Google? 8709475

- (●) Only when your Media Lab POC or Google Product Marketing Manager have acquired all necessary approvals after filing their request at go/houseadsexceptions
- ( ) This is always permissible as many campaigns need to drive traffic to a 3rd party's landing page
- ( ) The Google Product Marketing Manager can give the ok without acquiring any other approval
- ( ) This is permissible in all House Ads campaigns that the agency manages

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

Question 21 of 21

Google

keywords? 0/0.5 Pts

- House Ads are allowed to target competitor branded and/or trademarked terms if you think it makes sense to do so
- House Ads are allowed to target competitor branded and/or trademarked terms if the PMM thinks it makes sense to do so
- Targeting another company's branded and/or trademarked terms in an SEM campaign requires an internal approved exception. Your Media Lab POC or Google Product Marketing Manager will need to obtain all necessary approvals by filing their request at go/houseadsexceptions

EDIT YOUR ANSWER

SUBMIT