Student packet

Function 5→ class 1 & 2

Slang

Key words

This is a list of sentences containing the new words in this lesson and the previous one. Each new word is written in bold.

- Data sources: where you gather your information from.
- Focus group: participants chosen to evaluate a certain product/service.
- Market research: organized investigation into target customers/markets.
- Authenticity: the feeling of being true and genuine.
- Transparency: being easy to see, understand, and interpret.
- Consumer insights: direct feedback gathered from target audience.
- Online survey: a questionnaire designed to gather specific information.
- Our market research cannot cut corners; we must know all the details and factors that are driving customers' negative feelings about us.

Functional Language

Conducting research

- According to the survey findings, a majority of...
- According to the data, an average of....
- The research indicates that (percentage) of participants expressed that...
- Participants overwhelmingly agreed that...
- The study revealed that...
- A substantial portion of the sample believes that...
- It was reported that...
- Findings from the research suggest...
- A significant number of participants said that...
- The study indicated that...
- Participants claimed that...

Vocabulary pill

Cutting corners

This idiom is used when someone tries to do something as cheaply or as quickly as possible, often sacrificing quality.

Example:
Our market research cannot cut corners; we must know all the details and factors that are driving customers' negative feelings about us.

Language use

When you want to repeat someone else's words or message, you can use a technique called reported speech.

This means that within one sentence, you're also including another statement explaining what another person said or thought.

Direct Speech:

Our customers aren't satisfied with the service we are providing.

Reported Speech:

Roberto said that customers were not satisfied with the service they were providing.

Note on Conjugating:

It's typical to introduce the subject followed by the reporting verb in the past tense:

The customers reported that...
Our clients said that...
The reports claimed that....

Language use

When reporting what people said, we use the reported speech.

Some verbs used to report people words are:

Say
Tell
Admit
Clarify
Claim
Indicate

In reported speech, verbs move one tense in the past:

Example:
"I don't use your services so I can't tell you much"
(simple present)

He said that he didn't use our services so he couldn't tell us much.
(simple past)

Original sentence	Reported sentence
Simple Present	Simple Past
Present Progressive	Past Progressive
Past Progressive	Past Perfect Progr.
Simple Past	Past Perfect
Present Perfect	Past Perfect
Present Perfect Prog.	Past Perfect Prog.
Will	Would
Can	Could

Post-task

Skill focus: Reading, writing, listening, speaking.
→ General reading comprehension & general oral interaction

Post- task Instructions:

1. Mark the mistake in each of the sentences.
2. Then, share your answers with the class.

After that,

1. Read the sentences customers said about a cell phone provider. Rewrite the sentences using reported speech.
2. Then, check your answers.

Post-task

Read the sentences customers said about a cell phone provider. Rewrite the sentences using reported speech. You can start the sentences with phrases like One respondent/participant said that, claimed that, stated that, admitted that, etc.

1. "I love the coverage provided by my cell phone provider.”

2. "The data plans offered by my cell phone provider are affordable."

3. "My brother experienced billing issues with his cell phone provider."

4. "I have just switched to this cell phone provider."

5. "I am currently comparing the offers of different cell phone providers."

Post-task

Let’s check your answers!

1. "I love the coverage provided by my cell phone provider.”

   One participant said that they loved the coverage provided by their cell phone provider.
2. "The data plans offered by my cell phone provider are affordable."

   One respondent mentioned that the data plans offered by their cell phone provider were affordable.
3. "My brother experienced billing issues with his cell phone provider."

   Someone said that their brother had experienced billing issues with his cell phone provider.
4. "I have just switched to this cell phone provider."

   One participant stated that they had just switched to that cell phone provider.
5. "I am currently comparing the offers of different cell phone providers."

   One responded claimed that they were currently comparing the offers of different cell phone providers.